GRAMMAR: REAL CONDITIONS

Result clause (future tense)	If clause (simple present tense)
The climate will change	if we continue to burn fossil fuels.
We will lose many valuable animals	if we destroy their habitats.
*Real conditionals can be written with the result clause first. *These conditionals do not need a comma.

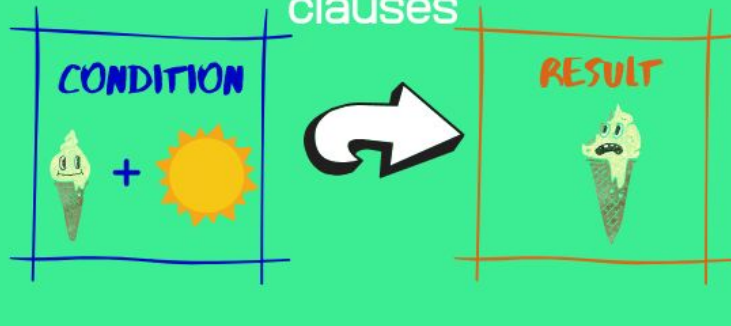

Result clause

if clause

+	If I study , I will pass my exams.
-	If I don't study , I won't pass my exams.
?	If I study , will I pass my exams?
+	If he studies , he will pass his exams.
-	If he doesn't study , he won't pass his exams.
?	If he studies , will he pass his exams?

Conditionals

Conditional sentences have two clauses

IF IT RAINS,
[CONDITION]

I'LL STAY AT HOME.
[RESULT]

CONDITION

If you study this weekend,

If you don't study,

If John goes on a trip next month,

If we don't save money this year,

RESULT

you'll pass the test on Monday.

you'll fail.

he won't have time to finish the project.

we won't be able to buy Christmas presents.

FIRST CONDITIONAL

- Use if + present to talk about a possible situation and will/won't + the base form to talk about the consequence.

Real conditionals (or first conditional)

If clause (simple present tense)	Result clause (future tense)
If I buy a new TV,	I will not have enough money to pay the rent.
If they borrow some money,	they will be able to buy a new house.
*When the if clause comes first, there is a comma between the if clause and the result clause.

- The if clause can come first or second.

If + present tense, (comma) + future with "will"

[condition]

[result]

OR

future with "will" (no comma) + if + present tense

[result]

[condition]

For example:

If the weather is nice, I'll go to the park.

[condition]

[result]

I'll go to the park if the weather is nice.

[result]

[condition]

LET'S PRACTICE...

CONVERSATION

A  25 Listen to the conversation. What choice does Jim have to make?

To take a vacation or buy a new camera.

Jim: I don't know what to do. I want to take a vacation, and I also want to buy a new camera.

Dave: I see. If you buy the camera, you won't have enough money for the vacation. Is that it?

Jim: You got it.

Dave: So, just take the vacation. Don't buy the camera.

Jim: But if I don't buy the camera, I won't be able to take any vacation photos.

Jim: But if I buy the camera, I won't be able to take the vacation, and I won't need a camera.

Dave: Hmm . . . you have a problem.

Real Language

to get sometimes means to understand

(Do you) get it? = Do you understand?

You got it! = You understood.

I don't get you/it. = I don't understand you/it.
